Missing, Feared Dead—Disappearing from their Salem home a week ago under mysterious circumstances, Mrs. Arthur W. Snow (right) and her husband of a month, today were the object of a state-wide search by police. A note left by the bride explained sudden departure as "a matter of life and death."

King, Queen Relax on Last Day in U. S.

TAKING ROYAL EASE, King and Queen of England sit on the porch of the ancestral Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., after their gruelling trip to New York World's Fair. 'Be Ready for War,' F. D. Warns Cadets

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 12 (INS)—The recent fate of "undefeated nations," President Roosevelt declared today, requires "still greater emphasis upon the vitalization of our defense."

"When the supreme test of war comes—and I hope it never will—an army to be effective, must command the co-operation of all elements in national life."

This was the significant burden of the message the Army's commander-in-chief delivered to the 1939 graduating class of the U. S. Military Academy.

ACCUSES DICTATORS

Equally significant, this broadcast message came hard on the heels of the departure of King George VI of England, who, with his vivacious queen, took Canada and this country by storm on their good-will tour.

HOUSING LAND-TAKING ATTACKED IN HUB SUIT

Attacking the constitutionality of the statute setting up the Boston Housing Authority, a bill in equity was filed today in Superior Court to prevent property-taking for a second federal housing project in South Boston.

Father's Day June 18th

REMEMBER DAD

Future officers of the Army had barely received their diplomas and single shoulder-bars when Mr. Roosevelt launched into a brief but carefully-thought-out analysis of world affairs.

The President did not name the dictator states, but by strong inference he pointed an accusing finger at them.

He frankly and brutally analyzed the dire progress of implements of war through the machine age for the graduating cadets and persuasively suggested to the nation that should any crisis come he

U. S. VISIT RESTS KING AND QUEEN

ABOARD THE ROYAL PILOT TRAIN, June 12 (AP)—Relaxed after a quiet visit at Hyde Park, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth returned today to their Dominion of Canada, whence they will sail for England Thursday night.

The British rulers, who in three weeks in Canada and four days in the United States were seen by probably 5,000,000 persons in each country, came down to the end of their journey still smiling.

They were more at ease and apparently enjoyed themselves more thoroughly during the informal week-end visit with President and Mrs. Roosevelt at Hyde Park than at any time during their tour of more than 7000 miles.

Lunching on picnic plates, they sampled the American hot dog, drank beer, rode in a small automobile, with the President driving, through the beautiful Hudson valley, and attended a country church.

WIVES JUST VISIT

The preacher, a bishop, went home to a meal with them, and in the afternoon the King and the President went swimming together in the new pool on the Roosevelt estate. The wives and "Ma"—Mrs. Roosevelt's affectionate name for the President's mother—just visited.

Queen Elizabeth had walked up the aisle of St. James' parish church gently assisting the 84-year-old mother of the President.

For the select 200 who were admitted to the church because they have attended regularly, this unexpected touch helped relieve the awe occasioned by the sight of a sovereign of the world's greatest empire and the President of the United States seated on the front pew.

State Expected to Fight New Haven Road's Order

Formal notice of discontinuance on Sept. 24 of all passenger service on the Old Colony Railroad—serving all of Southeastern Massachusetts, including Quincy and all towns from there to the tip of Cape Cod—has been served on Governor Saltonstall, it was revealed today.

The notice, in a letter from Howard S. Palmer, James Sawyer, trustees in bankruptcy for the railroad, and also for the New York, New Haven & Hartford line, was made public by the governor's committee, which is seeking a solution to the traffic problem presented by the projected abolition of service.

It was received just prior to a series of hearings on the abandonment scheduled to begin Wednesday in Washington before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"L" EXTENSION URGED

It has already been suggested that the Boston Elevated extend its operations to New Britain, and that supplementary bus services be operated from there to care for the needs of the rest of the territory affected.

The letter, forwarded to Lieut. Gov. Horace T. Cahill, chairman of the governor's committee, to be made public today, points out that no course save abandonment of passenger traffic is possible in that the railroad has already accumulated a debt of $11,000,000, owed the New York, New Haven & Hartford—equally bankrupt—for its operation of its lines since 1936.

It is pointed out that the situation has not been made wholly clear to the public, which, the letter states, has apparently been led to believe that the Old Colony is a subsidiary of the New Haven line.

EXPLAINS FINANCIAL FLIGHT

The financial setup is explained as follows:

The Old Colony railroad leased all of its lines to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company in 1935 for a term of 99 years, including the Boston & Providence Railroad (the right-of-way between Boston and Providence) which had been leased to the Old Colony in 1928.

"In October, 1935, the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad filed a petition for reorganization under section 77b, of the bankruptcy act.

"As the lines of the Old Colony were operated at a substantial loss, the lease was rejected June 2, 1936, by the trustees of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, appointed by the United States District of Connecticut.

The Old Colony Railroad then found it necessary to file a petition for recognition . . . and it petitioned the court to direct the trustees of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad to continue operation of the property, but for the account of the Old Colony company.

Thereafter the properties of the Boston & Providence Railroad continued to be operated as a line of the Old Colony Railroad until July 19, 1938, when, because of heavy losses which were being incurred, the trustees of

Patriarca Wins Delay In Court

As the legislative commission investigating D-14 and other pardons met at the State House today, Raymond L. S. Patriarca, one-time "Rhode Island Public Enemy No. 1," appeared briefly at East Cambridge court room at the office of the state parole board.

In court, where Patriarca faced two charges in connection with alleged theft of an automobile, he was granted a two-day continuance.

At the same time, his counsel, Attorney Herbert E. Callahan, announced he would make a "special plea" for dismissal of the counts against his client, when the latter should be finally arraigned.

Patriarca's subsequent visit to the parole board office won him "formal" permission to leave Massachusetts to visit his mother in Providence, R. I.

Permission previously granted him was "emergency." Parole Board Chairman Ralph W. Robert said. He added that Patriarca was given instructions today to guide his future behavior.

The pardoned Rhode Island gunman is now free on bail of $5000, pending his trial in East Cambridge court on the auto larceny charge.

An early witness before the legislative pardon-probe commission was Miss Miriam Van Waters, superintendent of the Shubert Reformatory for Women.

At the State House on other business, she received a message from Probate Commissioner Chairman Jarvis Hunt, asking her to appear. She consented, and was closeted in the hearing room for more than an hour.

It was announced that Patriarca would not be called before the commission before tomorrow—if then!

Attorney Callahan said Patriarca's bride of last January was in Worcester at the home of her parents.

HUB TRAIN KILLS GIRL, INJURES 2 ON WAY TO BEACH

MANSFIELD, June 12—Bound for a day's outing on Cape Cod beaches, a gay summer party of young people was struck suddenly and tragically here today by death.

Virginia Parker, 20, of Larch street, Worcester, was killed instantly when the car in which she was riding, with three others was in collision with a northbound Providence to Boston passenger train.

Ruth Terrill, 20, of Pleasant street, and Samuel Daly, 18, of West Boylston drive, both Worcester, were taken to the Sturdy Memorial Hospital at Attleboro.

Otto A. Kesselmark, 20, of Irving street, Worcester, driver of the car, helped bystanders pull the Parker girl's lifeless body and the two injured from the wreckage just before it burst into flames.

Hospital authorities said the Terrill girl and Daly would recover. She suffered lacerations of the face and other injuries, and Daly suffered lacerations of the scalp.

Kesselmark escaped virtually without a scratch as he jumped from the car, but Miss Parker was trapped in the front seat as the train bore down.

The motor of the car stalled, and before he could restart it, the train struck, Kesselmark told him, Chief Ring said.

The auto was carried two hundred feet along the track, and bathing suits, towels and summer clothing were spilled along the way.

FUGITIVES CAPTURED

BUENA VISTA, Colo., June 12 (AP)—Four of six Colorado Reformatory inmates who kidnaped Warden W. H. Johnson and held him briefly as a hostage in effecting their escape, were captured today in rugged country about 20 miles east.

Fear Salem Bridal Pair Met Tragedy

Under circumstances as weird as a movie scenario setting, a young bride and bridegroom had vanished from Salem today, with authorities fearing they may have met a tragic end.

The couple are Arthur W. Snow, 20, until recently an attendant at Danvers State Hospital, and the former Virginia Anderson of Marblehead, 20-year-old student nurse at the hospital.

They have been gone now just a week. They left behind all their wedding gifts, some still unopened. They left behind all their clothing and the suitcases in which the clothing might have been carried.

LEAVE STRANGE NOTE

And they left behind a mysterious note—one written in a shaky and apparently nervous hand purportedly by the bride, who was a girl not easily made nervous, according to her landlady.

Because a bride does not abandon her wedding gifts willingly, because a girl does not discard her good clothing and because they believe the bride may have been forced to write the note—police today were fearful that the couple's vanishing may be the result of duress.

The note, addressed to the landlady, Mrs. Ella L. Harlin, but spelling the name "Hallin," was left in the room of the Federal street house where the couple did light housekeeping. It read:

Dear Mrs. Hallin: Sorry to leave such a mess. Called away on emergency, a matter of life and death. We won't be able to get back for a long time, so I want you to have anything you want and throw the rest away.

"I AM NERVOUS"

"There are new sheets that you can possibly use. MRS. SNOW. P. S. Please excuse writing as I am nervous. Please see that my sister's baby gets the Bible story."

The vanished couple were married May 20 at Salem. The bride was graduated from Marblehead high school two years ago and a few months later became a student nurse at Danvers State Hospital.

There she met Snow, who was an attendant. On May 3 they both handed in their resignations.

Push Killer Hunt As Maine Doctor Examines Bones

WESTBROOK, Me., June 12—Baffled by what they believe to be a double murder, police today called on pathologists and medical science to solve the riddle of four human feet found here in a refuse dump.

After examination, Dr. Mortimer Warren, famed Portland pathologist, said he was inclined to agree with police that two feet were those of a man and two others of a woman. He refused to comment on his belief about other bones, one resembling a hip, found after hours of digging at the dump.

"I am sure the feet were severed after foul play," Police Chief Lendall M. Goff declared. "I can't see anything else but foul play."

Meanwhile, authorities throughout New England began a check on missing persons as the possible victims.

Among them was Captain Henry J. Flood, missing since April from his Army post at Fort Williams, and last seen in his car with a blonde.

Captain Flood's blood-stained automobile was found later at the Lewiston-Auburn line. A nationwide search has failed to locate him.

Although, authorities believe the victims died several months before Flood's disappearance, Army authorities today were asked to furnish the missing man's complete medical record and measurements. In nearby Portland, police checked on a man who vanished in 1937 after it was reported he had received threats.

HIDDEN RECENTLY

Medical authorities who examined the feet and the bones were agreed that the dismemberment was definitely not the work of a surgeon. Tendons extending from the line of the incision indicated that the feet had been severed by the same instrument—probably a saw. Other crude marks on the bones, and particularly on the hip bone, indicated a heavy blunt instrument had been wielded.

Clinging to the feet and to the hip bone were shreds identified as human flesh, and so dark that they appeared to be charred, as if an attempt had been made to burn the bodies of the victims. Sheriff Henry E. Burnell, in charge of the digging in the dump, said he was waiting further report from Dr. Warren as to what had caused the strange discoloration of the flesh.

With the finding of the fourth foot, County Atty. Albert Knudson of Cumberland County assumed personal charge of the investigation, and hurried to the scene.

The dump where the horrible discoveries were made is not an official city dump, and has been in use less than three years. It is in a dry gully at the foot of Brown and Lyman streets, and has been used in connection with a Works Progress Administration sewer project nearby.

DOG WAS SLEUTH

Discovery of the first foot was made last Thursday by a dog, a collie, "Rex," owned by Maurice Dashaies of Knight st., who lives directly across the street from the dump.

Dashaies saw his dog playing on the lawn with an object, and found it was the bony structure of a foot. He notified Chief Goff and turned over his gruesome find. Late last night the dog again dug up another woman's foot.

Wife Slain, Husband Dying

SPARTA, N. J., June 12 (AP)—

The husband wanted to commute 90 miles each day between his job in New York and this lake country hamlet where his wife worked as a waitress in an inn. She said the trip was too long and wanted him to come out only on week-ends.

They quarreled over it for weeks, and shortly after dawn today Mrs. Marcella Rowan Anthony, 21, was found dead in bed with a bullet through her head and her husband, 26, lay on the bedroom floor near death from a similar wound.

PLAN ARMY AIR BASE IN N. H. Landon Scores Deal At B. U. Graduation

WASHINGTON, June 12.—An army air base serving the northeastern states and costing $3,608,000 will be located in New Hampshire, provided Congress approves the expenditure, it was learned today.

Army air corps officials who have long sought a central base protecting all of New England have requested the funds, but refused to let committee members where they planned to construct the base.

The exact locality in New Hampshire chosen for the base could not be determined.

An elaborate airport capable of housing scores of planes and hundreds of air corps members has been outlined by army officials.

Specifications call for erection of four hangars at a cost of $1,000,000; a base hangar, shop and warehouse costing $600,000, and paved aprons and gradings at a combined figure of $320,000.

A temporary barracks for 1400 men will cost $230,000, officers' quarters $87,000 and accommodations for non-commissioned officers will cost $49,000.

Other structures specified include a communications building, hospital, photographic laboratory and magazine for explosives.

The New Deal attitude that "the rights of users are greater than the rights of owners of property" is identical with the beliefs of Fascist and Communist governments, Alf M. Landon said at Boston University's commencement exercises today.

Addressing 1313 seniors and graduate students, 10,000 spectators and a vast radio audience, the former governor of Kansas and unsuccessful Republican candidate for President at the last election, asked college seniors to give the matter "clear-headed and fair attention."

Landon's speech, "The Educated Citizen and Property," was the formal address at the 66th annual commencement at which Landon and nine other persons were given honorary degrees. The ceremony took place in the Boston Arena.

"It is always difficult to dramatize a middle-of-the-road position," Landon said. "We old Bolsheviks of 1912 who were called radicals because we believed the rights of users must be considered in relation to the rights of owners now in 1939 are classed as reactionaries because we still stand our middle ground."

DANGER IN UNCERTAINTY

"The present administration is headed back to the time when private property owners had no rights at all. The question is how far social legislation can go and still be a gain for all the people."

"The uncertainty of how the problem is going to be solved is causing men who have anything to save or invest to hesitate in their plans for today, let alone tomorrow."

He said the abrupt changes of pace has led to confusion, bewilderment, and foot-sore men vainly searching for jobs, wandering from one phase to another without ever getting down to brass tacks.

He warned:

"No group is making a bigger

News of other commencement on Page 15

mistake than that which thinks life is going to begin in '40 by restoring old traditions and by talking of liberty and freedom in the abstract to men and women inadequately cared for in material things, in a world which disregards the sustaining power of the spiritual."

The scarlet and white of the university colors enlivened the evergreen-decorated platform of the arena, and the bright hoods of the university doctors made brilliant spots of color against their blue gowns.

COUNT GIVEN DEGREE

Others who received honorary degrees included a French count, Rene Doyen Comte Saint-Quentin, present ambassador of France to the United States, who was given a degree of Doctor of Laws similar to Landon's; and Chandrama Constance Premnath Dasa, president-elect of Isabella Thoburn College of Lucknow, India, first Indian woman chosen president of a Christian college.

She was given a degree of doctor of pedagogy.

Others were Mabel Wheeler Daniels, Boston composer, doctor of music; Van Wyck Brooks, Connecticut author, doctor of literature; Judge James J. Ronan of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, doctor of laws; and Dr. William Otis Faxon, for 63 years the "country doctor" of Stoughton, doctor of science.

TEST NOTE WRITER'S SANITY

After pleading innocence to an extortion charge, William M. Walter of Cambridge, confessed writer of threat letters to former Governor Curley and Executive Councilor Daniel H. Coakley, was sent to Psychopathic Hospital today for observation.

Judge Joseph T. Zottoli, in municipal court, sent Walter to the hospital at request of his counsel, James Harrington, after Walter had been held in $10,000 for the grand jury.

A short time before, the threat-letter had been examined by Dr. Edmund Sandoz, court physician, who told the court he believed Walter to be sane.

BLAMES BRAIN "FLASH"

Prior to the court arraignment, Walter, said at police headquarters that "mental aberration" is the only possible explanation he can offer for the extortion notes.

The 41-year-old former NRA official, now a door-to-door salesman of floor wax, stood in the pitiless lights of the police headquarters lineup and said he could offer no logical explanation for his acts.

"It all came to me one day in a flash," he said. "The thought to write them just flashed in my mind and I dashed off the letters and stuck them in the mail."

Of studious mien, the slim salesman insisted under questioning of Captain Joseph Bugliosi that he never had any intention of collecting money from Curley or Coakley.

He made no attempt to receive a supposed money package following the Curley note, he declared, and he was "the most surprised person on the face of the earth" when his messenger boy returned to the South Station with a supposed money package from the Coakley office.

"I watched the messenger boy for about 10 minutes," he said.

"I followed him but I had already considered it a closed incident. I was actually headed for my lawyer's office on Beacon street."

"I last saw the messenger boy at Franklin and Washington."

REGRETS HIS ACT

Regret for the trouble he caused was expressed by the alleged extortioner.

"I would like, if possible," he said, "to apologize personally to each of these gentlemen whom I offended, and if that is not possible I would like to have it made a part of the record here."

"I would like to extend my sincere, humblest apologies to them. There was nothing personal in what I did. I never had any grudge or ill-feeling against either of these men."

"This has been a bitter lesson to me, and I will never forget it. I've had time to think it over."

350 to Take Part In Dance Recital

For the 21st successive year, Miss Gertrude Dolan raises her baton tonight at Jordan Hall to open her annual dance recital—this year, as in several years past, with two separate performances and with changed casts.

This year also marks the stage debut of Miss Marie Collins of Dorchester—Boston's "Peg Malone"—chosen last March to emulate here the heroine in George Bernard Shaw's famous stage story, "Pygmalion."

There will be more than 350 pupils in the two shows including Virginia Murphy of Newton Center, niece of Police Commissioner Timilty; Jane, Nancy and Peter Holland, youngsters of George Holland, the "Boston After Dark" columnist; Bob and Janet Cummings; Marjorie Anna and Ruth Whelton, daughters of Paul Whelton, Hearst writer; Mary and Irene Casey, daughters of Police Captain Thomas P. Casey of Roxbury Crossing station, and Anne, Chester, Jr., and Billy French, children of the well-known Boston pianist.

Malden Nurse Is Found Dead

Mrs. Dorothy Linscott, 36, attractive nurse, was found dead today in her apartment in a Rockland avenue, Malden, lodging house by police who had been called by alarmed neighbors when they detected the odor of gas.

Patrolmen John J. Lucey and Thomas J. McCallen forced their way into the room and discovered the young woman lying on a couch. Gas jets were on and police said the death was apparently a suicide.

Stripes are new—stripes are smart—and this year's slipcovers are definitely s-t-r-i-p-e-d. These are not only tremendously effective in design, but they're EQUALLY GOOD in colorings. Soft shades of BLUE, GREEN and BROWN are contrasted with harmonizing tones. Seams are taped and double-stitched for wear; cushion covers are separate.

ASKS HUB RECOGNIZE YOUNG CITIZENS' DAY ON JUNE 17

A resolution calling upon members of the Boston city council to officially recognize the observance of "young citizens" at the annual Bunker Hill Day observances and parade Saturday will be introduced to the council today by Councilor William J. Galvin of Charlestown.

One of the features of the 164th annual observance of the Battle of Bunker Hill will be the tribute paid young American-born men and women who have reached the age of 21 during the past year by the Bunker Hill Day Celebration Committee.

tee, headed by Thomas N. White, chairman.

Daniel J. Coughlin, chief marshal of the parade, announced that 11,000 marchers will participate in the observance, and that he has dedicated the parade to the youths of Boston.

Councilor Galvin will submit the following resolution to the Council at its weekly meeting today in Faneuil Hall.

"Whereas, the greatest heritage of the youth of our nation is the right of citizenship; and

"Whereas, through the discontent of some and the apathy of others, the great boon of citizenship has lost its full significance; and

"Whereas, a movement is now spreading throughout the nation to give full recognition of appropriate observance of a day set apart to welcome into full citizenship the young men and women of America who have attained their majorities and are now entitled to say to themselves, 'I am an American'.

"Therefore, be it resolved that city council of Boston gives its complete endorsement of the Bunker Hill Day observance relative to young citizens and also attend the ceremonies to be held at the foot of Bunker Hill monument following the parade."

Chairman White announced that Senator Lodge who will be one of the guests of honor at the annual "night before" banquet in Charlestown armory Friday evening and also a marcher in the parade will be guest speaker at the monument exercises.

Councilor Galvin will be chairman of the young citizens ceremony and will introduce national, state and city officials who will speak. Congressman Thomas Flaherty, of the Charlestown district wired the celebration committee today that Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson has issued orders to those in command of the five warships which will visit Charlestown Navy Yard that the 1500 blue jackets who will march in the parade also attend the monument exercises.

In the meantime several organizations, Republican and Democratic alike have notified Chief Marshal Coughlin that their respective groups will also march in the parade.

A division has been set aside for the young citizens who wish to march and participate in the affairs that are being held in their honor.

250 New Citizens

Take Allegiance Oath

In two crowded Federal building courtrooms 250 new citizens were told today by Judge George C. Sweeney that they should accept and discharge duties as American citizens in the same manner in which they enjoy the privileges and rights of American citizenship.

Judge Sweeney, before administering the citizenship oath to the newly-admitted citizens, said:

"Today should be a grand and glorious occasion to each and every one of you gathered here. You are about to become full-fledged citizens of the United States of America.

"You should accept this honor with the greatest of pride and joy, especially with conditions as they are elsewhere in the world.

"I trust that each one of you will do your utmost to accept and discharge duties that you may be called upon to do in the same manner with which you are going to enjoy the full rights and

Cooler weather tonight and showers tomorrow were predicted. Today's first heat death was that of Isaac Karama, 65, of Arlington street, Chelsea. He was overcome in a rooming house, Chelsea, as he was going to work.

Police were told he had a wife and four children in Russia. Blazing sun on Tremont street was too much for 13-year-old Samuel Smoot, visiting Boston with his mother, Mrs. Wendell Smoot of Salt Lake City, Utah.

The boy fainted on the sidewalk and fell through a department store's big plate glass window.

Cuts on his arms were dressed at the store's emergency hospital, then he was taken to his room at the Hotel Touraine, where he was treated by a physician.

Police, Auto Pickets Clash; Dozen Hurt

PLINT, Mich., June 12 (AP)—A dozen persons were injured, three seriously, in a clash between police and pickets of the United Auto Workers (UAW) at Saginaw this morning as automobile workers sought a showdown in their inter-union fight for recognition as bargaining agent for General Motors employees. Six men were arrested.

HEAT TOO MUCH—Victim of Sunday's mid-summer weather is this girl cadet, being carried to a first aid station during the archdiocesan band competition at Boston College. The nurses here are two of the many who were on hand for such an emergency.

St. Mary's Band Proud Of Trophy

St. Mary's Senior Band of Cambridge was today the proud possessor of the Cardinal O'Connell trophy in the first division of the Archdiocesan Band Competition at Boston College.

The Cardinal, patron and director of the event, made personal presentation of the prizes.

There were 2400 school musicians in line, and 12,000 to watch them. Performers and spectators gave St. Rita's Eminence tremendous applause when he appeared to hand out the trophies.

In the second division, the first prize went to St. Rita's Senior Field Band of Lowell. Third division prize was won by the Mt. Carmel Band of East Boston, composed of boys and girls.

Sacred Heart Drum and Bugle Corps of Malden was first in the fourth division, St. Catherine's Fifth Drum and Bugle Corps in the fifth, and Mt. Carmel Drum and Bugle Corps of East Boston in the sixth.

It was the ninth annual band competition backed by the Catholic Youth Organizations of Boston. Cardinal O'Connell singled out the Rev. George M. Dowd of Brighton, director, for special praise.

OPEN WAR ON SILVER PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—A double-barreled attack on administration fiscal policies was taking shape in the Senate today with the so-called "economy bloc" opening fire on dollar devaluation legislation and western senators criticizing the silver program.

Republican Leader McNary disclosed that he was planning a conference of his party members to map opposition to a House-approved bill extending the President's authority to reduce the gold content of the dollar and to continue the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

Joining the Republican opposition was a group of economy-minded Democrats led by Senators Glass of Virginia and Adams of Colorado. At the same time, Senator Pittman (D.) of Nevada said he had urged Secretary Morgenthau to make known the administration's intentions about a possible change in the price of silver when the domestic purchase proclamation expires June 30.

Pittman charged that the western mining industry was being "hamstrung" by lack of knowledge of future silver prices.

Meanwhile, Congress was pushing its tax revision and relief programs to meet June 30 deadlines and to increase its chances for a July adjournment.

A House Ways and Means subcommittee was called to start drafting a bill extending more than $500,000,000 of excise or "nuisance" taxes and revising other levies to remove so-called "irritants" to business. The measure is not expected to be ready for House consideration until next week.

A House Appropriations subcommittee, which has been considering administrative changes in the relief set-up in connection with the President's request for $1,417,000,000 for WPA next year, hoped to report to the full committee today or tomorrow. The House will take up the bill Wednesday.

River Victim Recovering

John Dionne, 67, of West Brookline street, South End, who was pulled from the Charles river after a plunge from Harvard bridge, was reported recovering today in Massachusetts General Hospital.

He was rescued by Eugene Terrell, operator of an excursion boat which was bearing women and children down the river, and was but a few feet away when Dionne made his plunge.

Taken to the M. I. T. boathouse, Dionne was given first aid by Metropolitan police and then removed to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Maxine Elliott Nears Death

JUAN LES PINS, France, June 12 (INS)—Maxine Elliott, former American actress, was reported weakening in her struggle against a heart ailment. Physicians attending the 68-year-old Miss Elliott in her Chateau L'Honore, said her condition gave little ground to hope for her recovery.

The beauty queen of the American theater a generation ago, Miss Elliott was stricken seriously ill Friday. Her sister, Lady Forbes-Robertson, flew here from London to be at her bedside.

News Tips, Photos May Win You $25

Attention! Amateur newshound and camera enthusiasts! A total of $25 in prizes will be offered weekly by the Hearst papers in Boston for flash news tips and exclusive pictures.

Here is a chance to participate in an exciting contest, with a share of the weekly $25 prize money as a reward.

And what requirements are necessary?

None, except this one—Report what you see—and before anyone else.

No long hours poring over contest blanks and reference books. No brain-wearying problems to solve.

Just call Liberty 4900 with any exclusive information on events of public interest taking place everywhere daily—or

PICTURES OF LIFE

Supply the photograph which brings to the public eye a picture of life—or Merely tip the City Editor, Liberty 4900, to the occurrence of an event, so that a reporter or photographer may be dispatched immediately to the scene.

You will thus become eligible for a share of the weekly $25 prize money. The prizes will be allotted at the end of each week to the "tipsters" whose information, in the judgment of the editors, was most valuable.

There is no single prize or any stipulated number of prizes. But each week $25 will be divided among a group of tipsters who have been quick to note and equally quick to report what is taking place about them.

NEWS VALUE, SPEED

Judgment of news value and speed will receive the greatest premiums. For example, knowledge that the submarine Squalus had sunk off the New Hampshire coastline reported before anyone else knew about the disaster would be "big news" and would be deserving of a major share of the prize money.

Tipsters are cautioned not to represent themselves as employees of this paper. The Daily Record will not employ tipsters but will assign its own employees to investigate all tips. All this is necessary to become eligible for the contest is to provide the tip. Pictures taken by photographers will be developed by the newspaper and if printed will become eligible for a share in the weekly prize money.

Waltham Man Drowns in Pond

Francis T. Quinn, 39, proprietor of Waltham furniture company and chairman of the Waltham Red of Recreation, was found drowned in Plympton pond, Lexington street Waltham. The death, in the opinion of Medical Examiner Thomas M. Gallagher, was a sudden, white insane.

His body was discovered by a Waltham resident and recovered by the Waltham police. Nearby, Quinn's car was found parked in front of the home of Richard J. Boney of Pond at a friend of Quinn's.

BOY, 6, WHO SHOT GIRL PENITENT

Charles Sexton, 6, who shot his 3-year-old sister Alice through the chest while showing her a rifle he'd just found during an outing in East Acton, was duly penitent for his deed, and pledged not to tamper with firearms again until he's older.

The girl was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital under escort of state troopers, stood up well during the extraction of the bullet, and will live.

Hearing the rifle, report, George Sexton, father of the children, rushed to the rear yard where he saw Alice come staggering from the barn. The bullet passed through her chest and lodged in her arm.

Sexton rushed the child to Emerson hospital in Concord where Dr. Randolph Piper advised removal to Massachusetts General hospital for an operation.

95 Tailspins Sets New Plane Record

Lou Salvador of Cohasset was still champion talkpinner of the world today, following his amazing performance over the South Shore, with thousands on the ground looking on.

He set the new mark at 95, the old record also established by him, being 68. He is 34 years old.

Salvador is an amateur pilot who for occupation is a furniture mover. Among those who witnessed his feat, more in trepidation than admiration were his wife and three children. He took off from the Baystate airport in Hingham and climbed to 12,000 feet to have plenty of room to come down.

It took him an hour and a half to climb to that height, he said, and three minutes to come down, the plane turning over and over in dizzying tailspins. Somewhere between 50 and 60 such spins the motor went dead but having plenty altitude Salvador kept on until five judges on the ground clocked 95 turns.

Then he straightened the plane out and made a dead stick landing in the Kennebunk marshes, where a crowd gathered around him. After some tinkering he got the engine going again and returned to Hingham. He said the temperature was 32 degrees above zero at the extreme height he reached.

Salvador dropped flour out of his plane as a signal he was about to begin his stunts and when he got down to earth he was covered with it.

Poison Wine Kills 2 Jap Officials

TOKYO, June 12 (AP).—Two officials of the Japanese consulate general in Nanking have died as a result of drinking poisoned wine, the foreign office announced today. Japanese reports in Shanghai stated the wine had been administered to the officials by a Japanese agent. The officials were identified as being of the Japanese consulate general in Nanking.

DRIVERS BACK ON JOB

MANCHESTER, N.H., June 12.—The city council has voted to allow drivers back on the job after a suspension for a first offense. The council also voted to allow drivers back on the job after a suspension for a second offense.

SECRET RADIOS IRE NAZIS

BERLIN, June 12 (AP).—German officials today announced that they had intercepted a secret radio message from the Japanese consulate in Nanking to the Japanese government. The message was said to contain information about the poisoning of the two Japanese officials in Nanking.

The message was said to be a warning to the Japanese government to stop the poisoning of Japanese officials in Nanking. The Japanese government had denied the poisoning and said that the officials had died of natural causes.

The Japanese government had also said that the poisoning was a plot by the Japanese consulate in Nanking to overthrow the Japanese government.

F. D. R. Warns Cadets of War

These were the words of President Franklin D. Roosevelt today as he addressed the 100th anniversary of the founding of the United States. He warned the young men of the country that they were entering a time of great danger and that they must be prepared to face it.

TEL AVIV, June 12 (AP)—Rachel they And Rachel, lover of My People, a Jewish woman, was sentenced to life imprisonment today by a military court because she was caught disguised as an Arab and carrying a time bomb in a basket of fruit.

The defense tried unsuccessfully to mitigate the punishment on grounds of her age.

The prosecution contended she was more than 18 years old and therefore liable to the full penalty, life imprisonment. The defense argued she was less than 18 and so subject only to a maximum sentence of 15 years.

Abstract: This paper discusses the importance of the role of the state in the development of the economy. It argues that the state should play a more active role in the economy, particularly in the areas of infrastructure development and social services. The paper also discusses the challenges facing the state in this regard, and offers some suggestions for how the state can better fulfill its role.

IT IS ALWAYS the same old story in the middle of June. The sun is shining, the birds are singing, the flowers are in bloom. It is a beautiful day, and it is a beautiful day for the people of Boston. Why is it Father's Day?

There is a reason for it. It is a day when we remember the fathers of our country, the men who have given us the freedom and the rights that we enjoy today.

And it is a day when we remember the fathers of our families, the men who have given us the love and the support that we need today.

FATHER'S DAY IN THE KENNEDY HOME

A group of children and adults gathered for Father's Day.

CURTSEY BANNED BY SPEAKER'S WIFE

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, June 12—A few of the 1,000 R.I. Die Protest Anti-Smoker garden party were asked to say whether or not Mr. William Harrington was of the number of the House who cut out before the Ministers. Mrs. Edward, then Prince of Wales, visited America five years ago. Mrs. Randolph wanted her husband, "I'm, I'm not purple, either before that time. I feel like a fool and what's more, I don't know a lot."

THEATRE. DEET. "Go South," he explained to the eagerly listening audience, "for a few years ago and now, however, the party profits." Smiling twice as soon, Abolitionism in London. But the week to come if for a third time. He asked for business seats. "Half-price seats," he was told. "We'll be glad to present orchestra seats to you," Emerson loved the common folk. "I shall not go to the first row of the boxes; that's where I want to sit."

BETWEEN the Missionary and the Native people is a considerable difference of opinion as to what is the best way of saving the souls of the heathen in the land of the Lone Pine People. Early Dr. Dyer, the Native agent in charge, was so convinced of the value of "Mock Work" with the heathen, that he had a large quantity of the same prepared. This is "Noted Day Work" for the day, every day, and the heathen are made to do this with a list of figures. As of Mission Hall, Portland, O., I took Brother Water's list, and put for the Mission People, the following:

HOW, I, as we may of Modern Women's Power and Privilege, the simple truth is that women, as a whole, have never been as lost, disoriented and bewildered as they are today. Never have they been less sure of themselves and their destiny . . . never as desolate and distracted . . . never as desperately in need of something which will help them find themselves . . . to find that sense of authority and peace without which any life is incomplete.

A large order? Yes, but I think the answer has been found and in a way that may seem strange, at first to the over-strained, career-dazed feminist. IN

When National Economy Is Healthy

Take the human body which thrives when the blood circulates normally, a national economy is healthy when there is an uninterrupted flow of goods and services.

Any interruption of this flow, which might be caused by a shortage of goods and services, or by a shortage of money, or by a shortage of credit, would result in a national economic crisis.

Accordingly, a healthy national economy is one in which there is a steady and uninterrupted flow of goods and services, and in which there is a steady and uninterrupted flow of money, and in which there is a steady and uninterrupted flow of credit.

This theory of a healthy national economy is based on the fact that the human body, which thrives when the blood circulates normally, is a national economy which thrives when there is an uninterrupted flow of goods and services.

Since the steady removal of funds from the free circulation of funds, such as the current deposits, will tend to promote an increase in the value of money, it is necessary to maintain a steady and uninterrupted flow of funds.

A pickup of funds would have an opposite effect on the free circulation of funds. An increase in the value of money, especially for the reason that funds are held in reserve, would tend to promote an increase in the value of money.

PHILADELPHIA, C. I. (United Press), June 12 (INS)—Byron Nelson, a 1938 United States Open champion, today won the national open golf tournament by sinking a 18-hole playoff against Craig Wood, 1937 champion, and Denny Shute, 1938 champion, in the second 18-hole playoff.

Man He Beamed Reassures Craig Wood

PHILADELPHIA, June 12 (AP)—Craig Wood, hospitalized for a week, today was reassured by a beaming doctor that his condition was good.

Wood, who had a 18-hole playoff with Nelson and Shute, today won the tournament by sinking a 18-hole playoff against Nelson and Shute, 1938 champion, in the second 18-hole playoff.

Jouett Shouse Backed Al Smith Pleased at Win Of Arden Lass

JOUETT SHOUSE, former chairman of the national Democratic committee, was elated when Arden Lass, carrying his colors, won the Betsy Ross Stakes at Suffolk Downs. I met Mr. Shouse in the company of Mrs. Shouse and Mr. and Mrs. A. Lincoln Filene at the Paddock Club following the running of the big race. Mrs. Shouse is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Filene, and got a thrill when she saw her husband's racing silks come down in front.

I liked Sally Pass By to win the big race, but upon the suggestion of Mr. Shouse I took a $2 flyer on Arden Lass.

"Owners always think their horses are going to win," I told Mr. Shouse.

"This time I believe I shall be right," replied the owner of Arden Lass.

And he was, Arden Lass finishing in front by two lengths.

It was Mr. Shouse who first supported Al Smith for the presidency. Mr. Shouse had invited former Governor Ely to join his party at the races, but the latter was unable to do so on account of a previous appointment. It was Ely who made the nomination speech in behalf of Smith.

Clodium could have been played in "The Pilgrim Handicap." I went to the track intending to play War Minstrel, and ended up with Woodsaw that ran out of the money.

The racing during the first 24 days of the Suffolk Downs meeting has been good. It should continue to be good with Racing Secretary Charley McLennan receiving word that the class of the thoroughbreds will be at the East Boston track for the remainder of the meeting. The $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap is scheduled for July 12, and that classic should furnish one of the best races of the year.

HITCHCOCK SUPERB IN POLO ADIEU

NEW YORK, June 12 (INS).—The sun never sets on the British empire, but Tommy Hitchcock always does.

At the age of 40, the ten-goal fury clambered over the peak on his international polo career and, as he started down the other side, glared forth in a blinding brilliance.

It is no secret today that Hitchcock considered it the end of his polo differences with the British. Hitchcock gave the greatest performance of his lifetime by closing out 19 years of combat for the $200 Westchester Cup with a record of ten straight victories—and never a defeat—in meeting with Great Britain.

The 9 to 4 United States victory, captained by Hitchcock, made a $250,000 bust of Britain's latest challenge and reduced next Sunday's meeting between the teams to the status of an exhibition.

There could be no question that Ten-Goal Tommy was America's siege gun, as he has been in four previous matches with the British.

The score was 4 to 3, America's favor, but too tight for Hitchcock's comfort, when his tremendous will to win aroused him to another inspired performance.

In two periods, he figured in four of five clinching goals, scoring three himself and feeding an 80-yard pass to Mike Phipps for another.

Stewart Iglehart, a fellow ten-goaler who played No. 3 for the United States, put up a magnificent game that was the equal of the one he played in upsetting the British, 11 to 7, in the opener.

Only 48 Women
In Eastern GolfCubs Now Fail
To Show Hustle

By BILL GRIMES

Because there are only 48 competitors, the women's eastern golf championship which started this morning at the Charles River Country Club isn't worth more than a couple of lame lines.

It wasn't so many years back that the Women's Easterns compared favorably with the Women's Nationals. But the girls have been turning a cold shoulder on the sectional championships of late, and it has arrived at such a low ebb that only four Metropolitan District players are at Charles River. . . . Craig Wood and Byron Nelson set a pace in the first playoffs for the National Open title, eight strokes too fast for Denny Shute. . . . Fred Corcoran will be months recovering from the light that Sam Snead came up with at the 72d hole. . . .

Jim Hollis will start to defend his New England seniors' title tomorrow at Woodlawn. The seniors will hold forth at Woodlawn for two days. It will take some of them a fortnight to recover. . . . Doc Kendall says that he's an odd-on favorite to win the Veterans' division. . . . He's well beyond the four score mark but still possesses a great kick, either on or off the links. . . . Blondes are his favorite filles. . . . Arthur Hunt, a former New England Seniors' titleholder, will be unable to make a bid to regain his crown. . . . Arthritis. . . .

BROWN IN 10-MILE RUN

The Cleveland Stadium has the two largest batteries of floodlights in the world. They produce over 50,000,000 candle power. . . . The Holy Name Church has a great cross country attraction, Tarzan Brown, featuring its 10-mile run to be held June 24. . . . It will be a race of champions. . . . Mrs. H. Warren Beard, Charles Dwyer, in many strokes better than any of the fair sex golfers in New England. . . . A match between Mrs. Beard, the Ray State champion, and Helen Waterhouse, queen of Rhode Island golfers, will settle that point. . . .

A. Linde Fowler is the only golfer who could possibly wiggle into the following predicament. . . . One day last week, Linde started a round at Wollaston. . . . He was given the honor and the rest of his foursome stood by. . . . With a shut club face, Linde wound up and let fly at his ball. . . . He connected but not perfectly. . . . The agate hit the big rock out in front of the tee, skyrocketed into the air and came back over the tee, finally coming to rest down by the 3d green. . . . Linde's partner stepped up and was about to tee up his ball when the "Dean" checked him. . . . "You can't play yet, I'm away." . . . Linde has always been a stickler to rules, other than those applying to diets.

STENGEL BOILING

Accompanied by Mrs. Stengel, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn, and Margaret and Mary Quinn, Casey Stengel climbed aboard the train for Cooperstown, N. Y., last night. . . . He was still raving over the expulsion of Al Lopez from the first game of yesterday's double header. . . . "Al didn't say a word to that big bird," declared Old Case. . . . "I asked Al if that pitch was low and he said, 'That's what he called it but I didn't think it was,' and he tossed both of us out of the game. I've a right to ask any of my players any question at any time. There's no umpire with the authority to toss them out for answering my query." . . .

The Cubs are not the hustlers of old. . . . Before the first game they retired to the dressing room for a five-minute practise session. . . . Blaise Romeo, the all-around athlete of the Bee's front office, lead the House of Angel Guardian Band under the grand stand and into the left field bleachers. . . . Uncle Muskie should catch a look-see at Romeo's military strut. . . . Red Lyons is now entitled to be rated as "lops" among American League pitchers. . . . Lefty Grove was giving him an argument until yesterday, when the White Sox hurler beat him to hang up his sixth straight win.

Star of Sea
Duels Caseys

Star of the Sea Club of East Boston will attempt to make it two wins in a row over the Dick Casey Club tonight at Dorchester Town Field, in the Boston Park League series.

Caseys met defeat at the hands of the Nettle Islanders last Friday and will present tonight a revamped club. Curt Fullerton may pitch tonight at Lee Playground in South Boston when the Navy Yard A. A. plays Ray Coolidge's South Boston Town Club. Fullerton has won his last three starts for Navy Yard, and will probably be opposed by McEldowney for South Boston.

take to themselves too much credit! For where coercion has failed, contrition has succeeded. Rubber stamp threats to sell him down river to impoverished clubs which would pay him in pennies, fines for insubordination, official reprimands by Judge Landis, promises of drubbings by his teammates, reproof by the press—all, all failed to stem the nonsense which bubbled from his font of foolishness. But when disintegration began and his pitching came apart, Dean's country collapsed. His ego leaked away. His act went stale. And to his credit he has had the intelligence to realize that, if he is to fit himself to his old inflated character again, he must swell himself to the same heroic proportions. He has to win some ball games and not get knocked out of the box as the Bees did him yesterday. Here then is a hitherto concealed sub-strata of intelligence in Dean's makeup. He has a sense of proportion. Where formerly he threatened to quit the game, now he makes no mention of desertion. Adversity's respect has replaced prosperity's contempt. Once more he yearns to be one of the "seven great pitchers of baseball history," as he has labelled himself. And the baseball world is quick to wish him luck! Go get 'em Dials!

UMPIRE'S "BONER"
RUINS BEES BILL

ing crowd became a snarling mob. A bat was thrown and also a bottle, but not at Magerkurth's ice cream pants, rather at his head. Fortunately, both missed the target. There was no excuse for the bottle throwing, I grant you.

It was a cowardly act and it was too bad the culprit couldn't have been caught and punished.

Neither, though, was there any excuse for Magerkurth's actions.

He had started all the trouble by making a mistake. A smart umpire would have realized that he was entirely at fault and would have taken all the abuse handed him, knowing that he had invited and deserved it, and restored order without banishing anybody.

He would have considered that it was a Sunday afternoon, that there were many dignitaries among the crowd, that any trouble would be a black eye to baseball.

KID NEEDED LOPEZ

He would have known that it was Tom Early Day. He would have known that in the second game the Roxbury rookie was to make his first start of the season, opposing Dizzy Dean, before his Mayor, his friends and neighbors the clergymen who started him on the road to baseball fame.

He would have figured that the kid would need Al Lopez, the smartest catcher in the league, to help him back of the bat and require the encouragement of his manager on the bench.

But if Magerkurth ever gave these angles a thought, he paid no attention to them. His dignity had been wounded. The h—i with everybody and everything else.

So, after noosing out a 4-3 victory in that opener, the Bees came back with Stan Andrews, a Lynn rookie breaking into the lineup for the first time this year, catching Early.

UNEARNED RUN

The Cubs scored three runs in the first inning. They'd have had one had not Andrews, after tagging out one runner at the plate, dropped the ball after tagging another.

The Bees knotted the count in the second with Early knocking in two runs with a blow that chased Dean.

But in the third the Cubs got another unearned run. The runner who scored it reached when a Warstler throw broke through Hassett and rolled into the Cubs' bench. Not many balls roll by Bees' first-sacker's into benches when Lopez is catching.

To make a long story short,

GEORGE MAGERKURTH
And his white trousers

the Bees were trailing, 6 to 3, going into the last of the seventh.

They put over two runs, had runners on first and second with two out. Andrews came to bat. He brought the count down to 2-2. Then the clocked ticked 6-30, and according to Massachusetts law, the pastime had to end there and then with the Cubs victorious, 3 to 2.

I don't blame Magerkurth for bad Boston errors in this game. I don't blame him for the edict of the Massachusetts legislators which says people willing and anxious to remain at a ball game later than 6:30 on Sunday can't do so.

I don't say the Bees would have won with Lopez and Stengel. Andrews did a bang-up catching job and got two hits, while Coach Kelley directed the team to everybody's satisfaction.

I do say that the Bees should have had Lopez and Stengel available for the nightcap and that they might have won had they had a minute more, a minute they would have had if Magerkurth hadn't fallen asleep in the opener and then wasted several minutes making the Bees pay for his doze.

Yours for better umpires and legislators.
